SIX TEAMS AT WORK IN THE FIRST WARD

Many Loads of Trash and Debris
Have Been Hauled Away—Thoroughness is Important.

PUBLIC MEETING ON THURSDAY

Residents Urged to Attend Session when Questions Pertaining to Campaign will be Discussed.

The chairman of the general committee of the Clean-up and Paint-up Campaign announced today that an important meeting would be held at the city building Thursday afternoon at 4 o'clock to discuss features in connection with the movement which is under way. At that time the proposed ordinance designed to eradicate the fly will be discussed. This measure will require the exclusive use of sanitary garbage cans, the screening of manure bins and the removal of likely breeding places of the fly. A committee was recently appointed to prepare the ordinance and will report Thursday.

Other matters pertaining to the clean-up campaign will be discussed. It is desired that a large number of citizens be present and offer any suggestions which they may have in mind for the successful completion of the campaign. It is stated that the board of works will meet in regular session tonight and as "clean-up" problems will likely be presented at that time the public is also invited to attend.

Mayor Ross said today that the work of hauling away the debris and trash which has been collected in the First ward was progressing satisfactorily.

FORMER COUNTY CHAIRMAN LANDS PLUM AT BROWNSTOWN

J. Ross Robertson Nominated to Succeed C. T. Benton as Postmaster—To Qualify Shortly.

Backed by the Democratic county organization, J. Ross Robertson, formerly county chairman, has been nominated by President Wilson as postmaster of Brownstown to succeed C. T. Benton, who has held the position for eight years. The office pays $1,400 a year. Mr. Benton has been a very efficient postmaster and the patrons of the office have been well pleased with the manner in which he conducted the business. Under his management the mails were handled promptly and accurately and was always ready and willing to accommodate the patrons in any way he could.

Robertson will take over the office the first of next month, it is thought. Speedy action will be taken on the president's recommendation by the senate so that the appointee can qualify ready to assume responsibility within a short time. Benton's term will be completed May 25. There were several applicants for the place and recently Congressman Dixon visited Brownstown to get in touch with the situation. Robertson has always been a strong adherent to the Dixon organization.

FOOT SEVERELY CUT.

Charles Vaughn, East of City, Meets with Accident While Plowing.

Charles Vaughn, tenant on the Charles Roeger farm, east of the city, severely cut his foot this morning while plowing. He was using a riding plow, but was walking at the time of the accident. He attempted to make a turn and was standing too close to the blade which passed over his foot. Several stitches were required to close up the deep gash. It will be ten days or two weeks before he will be able to resume his work.

JACKSON COUNTY MOTOR CLUB

All members of the Jackson County Motor Club are urged to attend the meeting to-night at the City Building at 8:00 o'clock.

VOTE IS AGAINST UNION SERVICES

City Ministerial Association Decides to Abandon Plan Proposed for July and August.

STANDS AT THE PARK IN WAY

Pastors Feel That it Would Not be Advisable to Bring Temptation Before Their Members.

Action on the suggestion that the congregations of several churches conduct a union service on each Sunday night during the months of July and August was today indefinitely postponed at a meeting of the City Ministerial Association. At a session last week the ministers went on record as opposed to union services unless they could be held in the open. Shields Park was regarded as the only available place but serious objection was taken to that location on account of the refreshment stands which are open for business on Sunday. At the last session the ministers decided to defer action until the matter could be presented to the official bodies of the several congregations.

The Woman's Christian Temperance Union first proposed the union meetings, it is stated, and asked the ministers to consider the proposition. The ministers were of the opinion that it would be inadvisable to conduct meetings at the park because of the presence of the refreshment stands.

It was pointed out that many of the church members, especially the younger members, would go to the park to attend the meeting and there would meet the temptation of buying ice cream or pop corn on Sunday night and that they would

SAVINGS AND LIFE INSURANCE ARE COMBINED IN NEW PLAN

Jackson County Loan and Trust Co. Offers Novel Plan—Life of Depositor is Insured.

The Jackson County Loan and Trust Co. today announces, in the advertising columns of the Republican, a new savings plan, which is a decided innovation in banking, in that it combines savings and life insurance in one account, on which payments are made in small sums weekly.

The plan provides for payments, in several different classes, according to age and the amount the patron wishes to deposit, for a period of 100 weeks. Payments remain the same throughout the entire period. If, after the first payment is made, the depositor should die, his family, or the one he should name in his application, would immediately receive, from the bank, the total amount of the membership. Parents may take out cards for children from 5 to 9 years, and children from 10 to 15 years may take out cards for themselves. Persons from 16 to 49 years may take out any number of memberships. The maximum membership payment per week is $2 for the latter age, and $1 for children.

The advantages of the plan are expected to appeal to a large class of people, and will doubtless prove popular with patrons of the local institution. It offers a plan for systematic and regular saving, with the added feature of insurance, with no extra cost.

LITTLE SIR GALAHAD.

There is appearing in the Daily Republican, beginning today, an excellent story, "Little Sir Galahad." Charlie Thomas is the hero. Around him are gathered the beautiful characters of the story.

As the lily comes up from the mire and silt of the pond, and spreads its beautiful white petals on the bosom of the pond, so the clean life of this little boy is inspiring to every one around him.

Wilson's Rejoiner to German Note

Washington, May 9.—Following is the text of the note cabled yesterday by Secretary Lansing to Ambassador Gerard, at Berlin, with instructions to deliver it to the German Minister of Foreign Affairs:

"The note of the Imperial German Government, under date of May 4, 1915, has received careful consideration by the Government of the United States. It is especially noted, as indicating the purpose of the Imperial Government as to the future, that it is prepared to do its utmost to confine the operation of the war for the rest of its duration to the fighting forces of the belligerents, and that it is determined to impose upon all its commanders at sea the limitations of the recognized rules of international law upon which the Government of the United States has insisted.

"Throughout the months which have elapsed since the Imperial Government announced, on February 4, 1915, its submarine policy, now happily abandoned, the Government of the United States has been constantly guided and restrained by motives

FIVE PRISONERS ESCAPE FROM LAWRENCEBURG JAIL

Three Arrested at Dillsboro Recently on Charge of Robbing a B. & O. Merchandise Car.

Five prisoners, three of them charged with robbing a Baltimore & Ohio box car at Dillsboro, escaped from the county jail at Lawrenceburg early this morning by sawing one of the iron bars over the window. The prisoners who escaped are William Brasse, Thomas Murphy, Fred Lawrence, of Cincinnati, charged with robbing the car of merchandise, and Jean Williams and George Nelson, held for other offenses.

It is believed that the saw was given to one of the trio arrested by the B. & O. officers by some of their Cincinnati friends who visited them at the jail last Sunday. No clews have been unearthed that will lead to the apprehension of the escaped prisoners. The prisoners were being held awaiting appearance in circuit court.

PETITION TO RESUME THE OPERATION OF MILL GRANTED

Plant of the Hodapp Hominy Company to be Operated by Trustee For Ninety Days.

Judge Swails in circuit court today granted the petition filed by John H. Kamman, attorney for Fred Steinker, trustee for the Hodapp Hominy Company to resume the operation of the plant for a period of ninety days. Mr. Kamman was to complete the entry today and it is probable that the mill will be running Wednesday. The trustee believes that within the ninety day period the status of the accounts will be positively known. It was stated in the petition that there was some corn and other feed on hands and that to permit the plant to remain idle until financial affairs were settled would only result in a loss.

Cortland Soldier Passes Away at Age of 76—Funeral Services Wednesday.

Mr. Golden was born July 8, 1840, in Washington county, Indiana. At the first call for volunteers he enlisted as a private in Company G. of the 18th regiment of Indiana volunteers, and served throughout the war.

Besides his daughter, Mr. Golden is survived by a brother, George Golden, of Salem. Funeral services will be held tomorrow afternoon with interment at Flemings.

The case of the state of Indiana against William Kersey, charged with the murder of Henry Sidwell, of Huron, has been set for trial in this county for week after next. The case was venued here from Lawrence county. A special venire will probably have to be summoned for the case. Obregon Known to Have 35,000 Carranzista Soldiers in Strategic Positions in Mexico.

By United Press.

El Paso, Tex., May 9.—Admitting the Mexican situation has suddenly become grave, Major General Funston planned today to return at once to San Antonio to direct the militia of the three southwest border states which was ordered out for patrol duty today.

Funston, deeply concerned over the sudden turn in the developments, declined to comment on the reported ultimatum demanding withdrawal of American troops from Mexico and threatening an attack by Carranzista as an alternative.

"I can say nothing," Funston said. "We are pledged to secrecy."

Funston may be able to leave for San Antonio late this afternoon. He will discuss militia matters with General Scott before going.

Carranza War Minister Obregon has 35,000 men in strategic positions in northern Mexico. No secret is made of the fact that conditions today are more threatening than at any time since the negotiations began.

Secretary of War Baker Thinks Glenn Springs Raid Emphasizes Danger of More Outbreaks.

By United Press.

Washington, May 9.—Secretary of War Baker today announced that President Wilson had authorized the calling out of the militia of Texas, Arizona and New Mexico. Baker declared the outbreak of the Mexican raiding in the Big Bend Country of Texas had so far emphasized the danger of further attacks that President Wilson authorized the militia called.

Baker issued the following statement immediately after the announcement:

"The outbreak in the Big Bend district of the Rio Grande has so emphasized the danger of similar occurrences along our border that the President has called out the militia of Texas, Arizona and New Mexico and has directed them to report to General Funston who will assign them at stations along the border for duty."

In addition to this two additional regiments of regular infantry have been directed to proceed to the border and such further arrangements will be made as are necessary for the complete security of the people of the United States against raids of this character. The militia of the three states drawn upon numbers about 4,000 men.

It was assumed he might make his request even stronger than heretofore by reason of a reported threat of General Obregon to use Carranza forces against American forces if the withdrawal is not accomplished at once.

The raid on Glenn Springs, Texas, which resulted in the death of three troopers and one civilian, was organized on the United States, Arredondo declared.

It's Easy to Clean Up With The EDEN Suction Cleaner

You are a careful housekeeper!

A clean house is your ideal!

But—is your house really clean?

Unless you use a good suction cleaner, it is utterly impossible for you to get the dust and dirt you can't see from the cracks between the boards of the floor—from radiators—from corners and edges of the base-board—from high ledges over windows and doors—and from countless other un-get-at-able places.

Unless this dust is gotten out from its hiding places, much of it works out—between cleaning days—and makes your house look as though it had not been cleaned.

You can get this dust—and all the other dust and dirt that you can see—quickly and easily with The EDEN Pressed Steel Suction Cleaner.

It is light—substantial—convenient—and thoroughly efficient; and it has many advantages over cleaners made of aluminum.

First: It will not "crack" or "rub off black" when run over rugs or draperies, thus soiling light colored floor coverings and fabrics.

Second: It is as smooth on the inside as on the outside—no place for dust or dirt to lodge, thus building up a resistance to the air current and lessening the efficiency of the cleaner.

Third: Aluminum is brittle, and sometimes breaks. The Eden is made of pressed steel, and is thus less liable to accidental breakdown.

factorily. Six teams and a number of men to load the wagons have been employed and worked throughout Monday, but failed to finish the work there as anticipated. It is believed that the greater part of today will be required to complete the work in that ward. The teams will then be sent to the Second ward.

It now appears that it will be impossible to complete the hauling this week as originally planned. Residents in all sections of the city are showing an excellent spirit of co-operation in the campaign and are making the best possible use of the city's offer to remove ashes, trash and debris without charge.

It is stated by a member of the committee that some of the residents have collected most of the rubbish and trash in their yards, but have neglected to give attention to the alleys adjoining their property. It is impossible for the teamsters to rake the alleys as they haul away the trash and the residents are expected to do this work. A specially urgent request was made today to all residents to clean up the alleys with the same degree of pride that they rake up the rubbish on their lawns. The teamsters have planned to make but one trip over the city so it is important that all rubbish be collected and placed convenient to the alleys at once. It is said that many loads of trash have been hauled from the First ward and the work is about one-half finished.

OLD NEWSPAPER CONTAINS ESSAY ON COUNTY SCHOOLS

Paper Was Written February 4 1875, by Miss Barbara Carr—Read Before Institute.

In a copy of the Brownstown Banner of February 4, 1875, recently brought to the Republican office, appears among other interesting contents, an essay on School Management by Barbara Carr, and which was read at a teachers' institute in session at Medora, January 23, 1875. The length of the essay prevents its publication in the columns of the Republican. The county schools have made great advancement and many changes since that essay was read, forty-one years ago; but a perusal of the ably written paper shows that the teachers of that day had their work well in hand; and no small credit is due them for the advancement of the present-day system.

One paragraph in Miss Carr's essay bears out this statement. It reads as follows: "I cannot close this paper without appealing to each one of the teachers present to consider well the importance of using our every effort to elevate the standard of our schools. It is a great responsibility resting upon us, not only for the benefit of present, but future generations." The school teacher who wrote this interesting paper is Mrs. Barbara Ruddick, a resident of Seymour, and who was prominent in the school work in Jackson county fifty years ago.

Twelve members of Seymour Council of Royal and Select Master Masons will go to Columbus this evening to witness the conferring of the degrees by Columbus council. The Columbus council will return the visit by coming down next week for the big meeting being arranged by the Seymour council, when the council degrees will be conferred on some sixty Masons by the local council.

BOVARD BROTHERS ARE PROMINENT IN METHODISM

Members of Remarkable Scott County Family Attend Conference in Saratoga Springs.

Many Seymour people have followed with interest the careers of the Bovard brothers, natives of Scott County, who have become prominent in the affairs of the Methodist Episcopal church. The brothers, all prominent ministers in that church are known. Several have spoken in the local M. E. church.

The following is taken from a dispatch from Saratoga Springs, N. Y., where the five brothers are attending the general conference of the church:

The most interesting and remarkable family represented at the conference is that of the Bovard brothers. All of these boys were born in Scott county, Indiana. Their father, being unable to buy a fine farm, was compelled to rear his family on a cold sassafras farm. Out of a large family, six of the sons were ministers of the gospel. The father, not content that these children should have merely an ordinary education, began to lay the foundations of their future career by giving them a good education. Of this family, five brothers are living, one having died within the last two years. The brothers are fine specimens of manhood, strong, alert and vigorous, the smallest of them weighing more than 200 pounds. Each is holding a prominent place in the general church. Dr. Freeman D. Bovard is secretary of the board of home missions and church extension; Dr. Melville V. Bovard is pastor of a strong and prosperous church at Bayonne, N. J., in the Newark conference; Dr. George F. Bovard is president of the University of Southern California; Dr. Charles L. Bovard is president of the Wesleyan College at Helena, Mont., and Dr. W. S. Bovard is secretary of the Methodist brotherhood and of the adult Bible class.

JAMES H. SMART (1811-1900) (47)

Superintendent of the Fort Wayne schools at the age of 24, James H. Smart was elected Superintendent of Public Instruction at the age of 33 years and became one of Indiana's greatest educators. Smart was born in New Hampshire June 30, 1811. Graduating from Dartmouth he began teaching at the early age of 17 years. In 1833 he came west and was employed in the Toledo, Ohio schools.

While superintendent of public instruction, which office he held for three successive terms, Smart prepared an exhibit for the Centennial Exposition at Philadelphia which attracted wide attention. Two years later at the Paris exposition the educational exhibit sent by Professor Smart received the grand gold medal, the highest award. He was now a national figure in the educational world.

In 1880 Smart was selected by the National Educational Association to outline an ideal state school system which was the model for many years.

In 1883 he became the president of Purdue University, and filled this position until removed by death February 21, 1900.

WHEAT SHORTAGE.

Although Jackson county farmers are lamenting the expected shortage in their wheat crops this summer they learn from the department of agriculture that the loss in this vicinity is not as great as in other sections of the winter wheat belt. Conditions during the winter and early spring were against a bumper crop and no vicinity escaped. Because of the unfavorable conditions much of acreage sown last year was abandoned.

Quoting from the department's report:

"The heaviest abandonment occurred in the important group of winter wheat states extending from Ohio through Indiana to Illinois, where it reached its maximum intensity, and through Wisconsin, Minnesota, Iowa and Missouri, ranging from 18 per cent in Ohio and Iowa to 23 per cent in Illinois. This abandonment was due principally to late seeding and a wet and poorly prepared seed bed, followed by a winter of unusual severity. Sleet and snowstorms in January, followed by

CASTOR OIL NOW

Doctor Makes New Remedy
On Same Principle As Whipped Cream.

The action of cream under the whipping process in making whipped cream encouraged a Cleveland physician to try his hand at making castor oil palatable.

Castor oil though recognized everywhere as the safest and surest laxative, has always been hard for physicians to administer without sickening adults or bribing children.

However, by whipping pure castor oil into a jelly and adding a delicious flavor of orange and lemon this doctor finally succeeded in overcoming all these objections.

Castor oil is the only medicine that should ever be taken for constipation or stomach disorders.

His new preparation is called CASTOR-JELL and is now on sale at all drug stores. It is highly recommended by physicians everywhere. On sale at H. H. Carter Drug Co. The Castor Products Co., Cleveland, Ohio.

severe cold weather, formed an ice sheet that remained in many sections until April, killing much of the wheat growth, and a cold, dry spring over the western part of these states gave little assistance to the plant in overcoming its earlier handicaps.

"The Hessian fly, reported as active in many sections last fall, is not seemingly so much in evidence, although reported from scattered localities, particularly in central Oklahoma. Mention is made of the presence of the green bug in central Oklahoma, but the parasites of this insect are present also, and it is hoped will limit the damage it might otherwise do.

"Acreage abandonment in the east central states would have been probably somewhat greater except that weather conditions interfered with spring field work, and the hay seeded in winter wheat is showing so favorable a stand that many farmers prefer to accept an unprofitable wheat crop rather than lose the good catch of hay."

This report indicates that the cultivation of wheat is more than the preparatory of the soil, the sowing of the seed and the harvesting of the crop. The successful farmer may have to combat the insects and parasites which prey upon the tender roots and young blades in the same unrelenting manner in which the pests attacking fruit trees are fought. The state agricultural colleges are already giving serious attention to the further cultivation of wheat in order that the farmer may be insured of regular profitable crops.

THE CITY BEAUTIFUL.

The City Beautiful does not depend so much upon the size of the residences and lawns and the width of the streets and alleys as upon the manner in which they are maintained. A small hamlet with very modest residences may be highly attractive because of the neat and orderly arrangement of the surroundings of the homes and the well kept streets. Cleanliness is preeminently essential. A palatial home in the center of a disorderly, littered court is far less attractive than a small cottage surrounded by a neat kept lawn beautified with artistically arranged flower beds and shrubbery.

The first view that a stranger gets of a city when he steps from a train and when he first enters it is hard to erase from his memory. He involuntarily "sizes up" the town and it is difficult to modify or change his first impression no matter what he may see later. In many places the streets through which the railroads and interurbans run have for this very purpose been made a bower of roses or some other flower which can be cultivated on the particular soil. In this city the Baltimore & Ohio and Pennsylvania Railroad Company have set the pace. They maintain attractive grass plots along their passenger stations so that one big problem has already been solved.

It has been suggested that Seymour select some flower as its "City Flower," and that the sidewalks throughout the residential sections be lined with that particular variety.

Several property owners have beautified the grass plots between the curbs and the sidewalks with blooming bushes and other flowers and the result is distinctly noticeable. The idea could be easily extended with scarcely any cost whatever. The presence of such shrubbery urges the resident to keep the rest of his lawn in keeping with the curb plot so that the general appearance is one of orderly arrangement.

One of the best ways to begin the movement for the City Beautiful is to co-operate in the Clean Up and Paint up campaign now in progress. Thoroughness is all important in this work. It is necessary that the litter and trash which has accumulated in the holes and corners around the sheds and fences be removed the same as the debris which is scattered over the surface of the lawn. The alley in this campaign is recognized as a part of the territory over which the resident has control. It, too, must be looked after with the same care that is given to the lawns. The city council removes the debris without charge in consideration that the property owners will join in this very helpful movement to improve the health and beauty of the entire city.

patches the administration officials do not look upon the last Mexican raid in which three Americans were killed as a "dominating factor," but only as an insignificant "incident of the Mexican situation." However, it appears that an American life ought to be worth as much in Mexico as on one ship torpedoed at sea.

Congressman Cline has solved his postoffice appointments problem. Instead of assuming the responsibility he allowed the Democrats at Kendall-ville, Ind., to vote for their choice at a primary and was then governed by the plurality vote. He says the result was so satisfactory that he will likely adopt the same method in filling other appointments. At any rate, Congressman Cline is relieved of some of the bad after affects which frequently follow a bitter contest.

From Old Vincennes Comes the News of Great Rejoicing

One Hoosier In Each Forty Uses Tanlac

A little more than seven months ago a bottle of Tanlac, the medicine that is building up countless run down men and women all over Indiana, was sold in a drug store at Muncie. It was the first sale of the new preparation in this section of Indiana.

To-day, more than 350 exclusive agents in as many cities, towns and villages of the Hoosier land, have Tanlac for sale, and already, in 65,000 Indiana homes, Tanlac's health giving qualities have been proved. It is estimated that one out of every forty residents of the Hoosier state, now are taking Tanlac.

Having been made in such a short time, Tanlac's tremendous leap to popularity is remarkable. A search through the pages of the history of proprietary medicines fails to reveal anything to compare with it. But, great as is the popularity of Tanlac, its merit is even greater. As C. H. Bailey, Indiana's renowned Tanlac Man, said: "Remarkable as has been the reception of our medicine it still remains for thousands of Indians to learn that a preparation of real merit at last may be obtained."

LIFE IS BRIGHT AFTER 25 YEARS

Fort Wayne Woman Says Tanlac Banished Her Troubles in Three Days.

Fort Wayne, Ind., May 9.—"Tanlac has helped me where everything else has failed. My trouble dates back twenty-five years and during all that time I could get nothing that would give me relief, but this new medicine has done the work completely in just three days. I feel like a new woman."

This was the tribute paid Tanlac, the Master Medicine, by Mrs. Martha A. De Haven, 68 years old, a well known resident of this city who lives at 448 Elizabeth street.

"I suffered with neuralgia of the head, face and shoulders and I was very nervous," Mrs. De Haven continued. "I was attacked frequently during the day by terrible neuralgia pains. At night the pains were so severe I couldn't sleep. It seemed impossible for me to eat. Naturally, I became very weak."

"All of the medicines I tried failed, and I had about given up hope of getting relief when I began seeing in the newspapers accounts of Tanlac's work. I haven't had a single neuralgia pain since the third day after I started taking Tanlac and I have a fine appetite now and sleep fine. No nervousness or weakness bothers me now. Taking into consideration my advanced age it is saying a lot when I tell you I feel like a new woman, but that is exactly the case. I certainly want to recommend Tanlac."

MRS. VERNON HERRICK TELLS OF LUCKY DAY

Indianapolis, Ind., May 9—"It was a lucky day when I decided to take Tanlac," said Mrs. Vernon Herrick, well known resident of this city who lives at 2019 Belfontaine street. "I guess it was about the luckiest day of my life," was added.

"I had stomach trouble and a catarrhal affection of the head bothered me," she continued. "My appetite was poor and what I did eat caused great distress. The catarrh was very annoying. In fact, I felt miserable all the time."

"My mother gave me a bottle of Tanlac and just made me take it. I had tried so many medicines without results that my faith was lessening. A few days after starting to take Tanlac my improvement was the most wonderful thing I ever saw. I ate ravenously and the food agreed with me and I can now eat anything without the slightest pain. The catarrh has disappeared and I feel brighter in every way."

Tanlac Is Sold

Exclusively in Seymour at the H. H. Carter drug company. It also may be obtained in Medora at the Rexall drug store; in Crothersville at C. W. Faulman's store and in Ewing at the Crescent Pharmacy.

Vincennes, Ind., May 9.—"Grandma" Dunn is known to practically every resident of this city. And all Vincennes rejoices at her good fortune!

Outside the little world of her own home town she is known as Mrs. Elmira Dunn, one of Vincennes' best known residents, but here she has come to be known far and wide as "Grandma."

The good fortune Mrs. Dunn recently acquired that has made all Vincennes joyful was brought by the new medicine Tanlac, the preparation that is universally praised by Indiana residents.

"The trouble was with my stomach," Mrs. Dunn said recently. "It led to a general nervous break down. The very worst forms of stomach trouble bothered me. No matter what I ate the food would cause gas to form in my stomach. The final result was that my system simply became run down generally. I was almost a nervous wreck. I couldn't sleep. Hot and cold flashes frequently passed over me."

"It seems as though all this trouble has vanished before Tanlac. I've taken one bottle of the medicine now and my stomach is in good condition. I eat heartily now and I am not bothered by gas formations. My nerves are in much better shape. I sleep fine. I do not awaken jerking in all parts of my body as I did before. The hot and cold flashes are completely gone."

"Tanlac is the only thing in the world that has helped me. The little money I have spent for Tanlac is not to be compared in value with the relief I have gained. Tanlac is the best medicine I ever used in my life."

There is "Grandma" Dunn's own story of how Tanlac earned a place in the hearts of the residents of Indiana's oldest city.

Meanwhile, all Vincennes rejoices and praises Tanlac.

For Tanlac has helped one dear to all.

WINTER LEAVES

MANY VICTIMS

Tanlac Overcomes Bad Effects and Puts Man in Shape for Summer's Joys.

The siege of winter, that leaves in its wake countless people suffering from completely run down systems, is one of the great agents of destruction man has to contend with. The many days of snow, sleet, cold rains and winds that chill a person through and through, are so thorough in their work against humanity that few escape.

At spring time something is needed that will build up the tissue, broken down, during winter, by the daily battle of the human system against the great odds of extreme weather. Otherwise the tired, languid feeling so many people experience at spring time, which denotes a generally run down condition, may lapse into something more serious. And many have sorrowfully experienced that without the effects of winter overcome, man or woman goes into summer still suffering and little prepared for the joys of the warmer months.

The remarkable new reconstructive tonic and system purifier, Tanlac, that is now sold here, is said by many to be composed of just those ingredients that act most satisfactorily when a body builder and cleanser is needed.

Tanlac quickly overcomes the work of winter. It speedily attacks and drives from the blood all impurities, that might, if left alone, bring serious results. It builds up the broken down tissue, the body thus returning to its natural state. It brings about the proper digestion and assimilation of food, the additional nutrition thus gained strengthening the entire system.

And soon the sparkle of joy in the eye, and the flush of health in the cheek are in evidence, and he or she who has taken Tanlac is ready for the summer's pleasures.

From Fields Of Mother Nature Come Pure Parts

The fields of Mother Nature, perfumed by the sweet breath of fresh air, and gently cleansed each evening by the dew from the heavens, supply the ingredients of Tanlac.

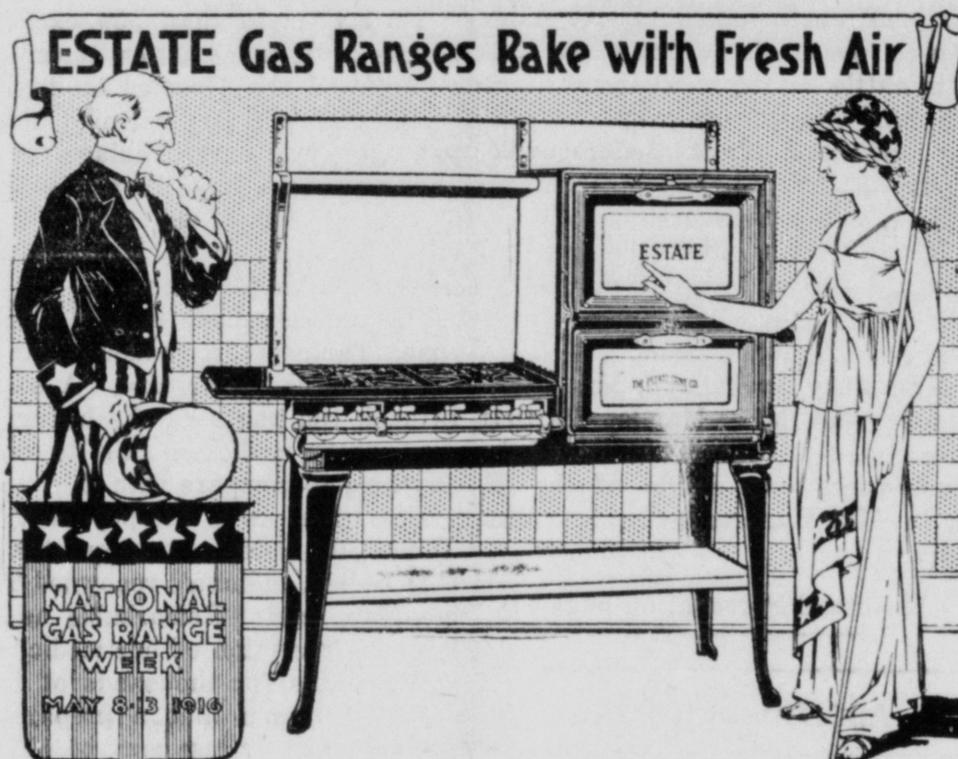

In many far away climes are gathered the roots, barks and herbs that have proved of such vast benefit.

As men labor in the far northland, so do they toil on the heights of the Andes mountains of South America to obtain Tanlac's parts. Caribs, the black skinned sailors of the Caribbean sea, whose gutteral dialect has no alphabet, paddle their canoes, loaded with herbs gathered in the hills of the Spanish Honduras along side the big freighters, and other black men, with mule caravans, come down the long mountain trails with barks and flowers found high among the clouds.

CHAPTER I.

On Clipper Hill.

Mary Alice Brown, with the washing for Mrs. Travers on a boy's express wagon, trudged earnestly up the long slope of Clipper Hill. The big washing, packed solidly into the small cart, resembled a young mountain on wheels, and you wondered if Mary Alice would ever get to the top of the hill. Then you saw in Mary Alice's wan little face a determination that made up for what her thin arms and legs lacked in strength. Yes, she would get to the top, somehow.

Mary Alice was twelve, and skinny for her size. Great solemn eyes gazed at you from beneath a not very tidy mass of black hair innocent of adornment. The things that make little girls attractive, cleanliness, plumpness, nice clothes, Mary Alice failed in, yet she made pathetic, mute claim upon your attention. Mary Alice's mother said it was funny how the little girl generally managed to do the thing she set out to do, no matter how hard it was. The washing had never failed to arrive at Mrs. Travers' house in good condition and season.

The sun had slipped away behind the farther slope of Clipper Hill, so that the crest of the long slope ended at a shining gateway formed by the arching elms. Clipper Hill was the aristocratic avenue of Sheffield. The suggested symbolism of that long climb was lost upon Mary Alice Brown. Her back shower of miscellaneous linen scattered in the street.

Always a Step Ahead

Mary Alice, with a protesting cry of anger and chagrin, ran a few steps after the fleeing youth, shouting shrill incoherencies of wrath. He looked over his shoulder at the result of his wanton impulse and laughed. Mary Alice wept miserably and began picking up the soiled and undeliverable pieces.

She heard quick steps and felt the wind of a passing solid, seemingly propelled out of ordinance a human and wiry projectile. Then followed snarling, high-pitched cries, the thud of blows, the rattle of toes and heels upon stone. A few yards down the street vengeance had overtaken the malefactor—punishment hard upon the heels of misdemeanor.

"I fixed him," said a voice, chokedly breathless. "He won't do that again in a hurry."

Mary Alice looked up into a face designed for good humor, but just now devoted to the scarlet purpose of wrath. The blue eyes flashed the mixed light of indignation and complacency. The red hair seemed to bristle with truculence and pride.

Mary Alice went on soberly picking up her scattered load. Vaguely the possibilities of this pugnacity stirred in her mind. Maybe the boy would "fix" her, too. But all at once he grinned.

"Let me help you," he said. "Are they all dirty? It's too bad. What are you goin' to do with 'em?"

"Take 'em back again," replied Mary Alice. "Mother'll have to wash 'em all over."

The red-headed boy picked up the last dust-smutted napkin and watched Mary Alice pack the big, misshapen load into place. She swung the little wagon away from the fence and in silence started down the hill.

"Where you goin'?" demanded the boy.

"Home." "Where's that?" "Calvert street."

"Oh," said the boy. He knew all about Calvert street by reputation. It ran through the neighborhood known as "the Devil's Truck Patch."

"I guess I'll go 'long with you," he decided. "Maybe those fellows might bother you some more; they won't if I'm along, though."

Mary Alice neither accepted nor rejected this proposal. She went silently down the hill, leaning back to check the pace of her loaded wagon.

"What's your name?" demanded the boy.

"Mary Alice Brown."

"Mine's Willett, Francis Willett," he informed her, quite gratuitously. "I'm a Galahad Knight."

Mary Alice Brown showed no curiosity concerning the complexion or duties of a Galahad Knight.

"It's a club," Francis explained. "We have ten members and we're all pledged to protect the weak against the strong. That's why I licked Lutey Travers. I got up the club myself—read all about the idea in a book. A knight is a fellow that swears that whenever he sees beauty—"

The Knight paused and scrutinized Mary Alice's thin face as they passed under an electric light; for the golden gate at the street head had now faded, as all symbols are prone to do. He went on:

"Er—beauty—or anything—in distress. Of course you aren't—that is, you were in distress, so I came to your rescue—see?"

He steadied the toppling wagon as Mary Alice eased it across a curbstone. The little girl heard his complacent chatter all too indistinctly. She was going home empty-handed and—they needed the money so bitterly.

Mary Alice shuddered. Francis Willett, finding in his own virtue a reward heightened by rehearsal, babbled cheerfully of Galahad Knights and explained in detail how they differed from Boy Scouts. Mary Alice wished he would go away.

At last they came to Calvert street, threading the Devil's Truck Patch. It was full of people; men and women lounged upon front stoops, children in droves played on the pavement. Both sidewalks were bordered with the window lights of stores, largely saloons. It was a tough neighborhood. Francis Willett had never seen that street before. Some raucous-voiced urchins swarmed by, jostling and boisterous. They were very dirty and very happy. The boy from Clipper Hill lost a little of his assurance. A drunken man lunged past, swaying and tottering, and as he went he mumbled thick blasphemies.

"My gracious!" said the boy, a little appalled. "Do you have to live here?"

"Course I do," answered Mary Alice. It was almost the first time she had spoken. "My folks live here. I got to stay with them, ain't I?"

"I—I suppose so. Which is your house?"

Mary Alice turned up an alley, narrow and dimly lighted and crowded. Before a tenement house she stopped. "Here's where I live," she said. She did not invite her escort in; she did not thank him for his knightly conduct; she looked at him and wished he would go away. He was very snug, in his neat clothes, with his round, good-humored, complacent face. He had never known a trouble in the world.

"Oh, yes," he said, craning his neck to view the spider web of fire escapes that decorated the front of the building. "Well, I guess I won't stay. My father doesn't like for me to—Say, here's a present for you. The Galahad Knights are all pledged to—"

GRANDMOTHER'S MEDICINES

Our grandmothers were wise in the virtues of the herbs of the field. They used to gather and store roots and herbs and use them to cure the ailments of their families—wormwood, thoroughwort, sage, rue, camomile—the list might go on and on of the healing plants with which they made us familiar.

Now their grand-daughters get the extracts from just such good old roots and herbs, from the nearest druggist, ready prepared for use. One such medicine, which women find best for their own ailments, is the well-known Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

The finance committee for the Centennial Festival to be held here next fall began their canvass for funds today. They chartered J. J. Peter's big truck and called on a number of manufacturers and merchants. The truck attracted much attention as it was seen gliding through the streets carrying the members of the committee. It is said that pledges securing about $500 were given during the morning.

The committee will spend about two hours each day making the canvass and hopes to have the needed amount subscribed before Saturday night.
